

Dear Content Team,

I am writing to discuss the latest additions to our streaming platform.

We have recently added several new titles, including Dick Johnson Is Dead, a documentary that explores the inventive and comical ways a filmmaker stages her father's death to help them both face the inevitable. Other notable additions include Blood & Water, a TV drama that follows a Cape Town teen as she sets out to prove whether a private-school swimming star is her sister who was abducted at birth, and Ganglands, a crime TV show that follows a skilled thief and his expert team of robbers as they are pulled into a violent and deadly turf war.

Our platform now also features Jailbirds New Orleans, a reality TV series that goes down among the incarcerated women at the Orleans Justice Center in New Orleans, and Kota Factory, a romantic TV comedy that navigates campus life in a city of coaching centers known to train India's finest collegiate minds. Additionally, we have added Midnight Mass, a TV drama that brings glorious miracles, ominous mysteries, and renewed religious fervor to a dying town desperate to believe, and My Little Pony: A New Generation, a children's movie that believes Earth Ponies, Pegasi, and Unicorns should be pals.

Furthermore, our collection now includes Sankofa, a drama that follows an American model who slips back in time and becomes enslaved on a plantation, bearing witness to the agony of her ancestral past. The Great British Baking Show, a British TV show, is also available, featuring a talented batch of amateur bakers competing in a 10-week competition. We have also added The Starling, a comedy-drama that follows a woman adjusting to life after a loss as she contends with a feisty bird that's taken over her garden, and Vendetta: Truth, Lies and The Mafia, a crime TV show that explores the complex and challenging inner workings of the "Anti-Mafia" coalition in Sicily.

Other notable titles include Bangkok Breaking, a crime TV show that follows a man who joins an emergency rescue service and realizes he must unravel a citywide conspiracy, Je Suis Karl, a drama that follows a young woman who is unknowingly lured into joining the very group that killed her family, and Confessions of an Invisible Girl, a children's comedy that follows a clever but socially-awkward girl who will do anything to fit in at her new school. Our platform also features Crime Stories: India Detectives, a docuseries that
